

Our speaker this morning (this afternoon) works internationally, with associations and Fortune 500 companies on the topics of fraud and ethics. Since 2001, he has been helping organizations that want their people to make inspired decisions in impossible situations.

He's been a columnist for numerous industry trade publications and is the author of the book, Diary of a White Collar Criminal.

Please welcome, "the self-taught" expert on fraudulent behavior*, Jerome Mayne.

=====

Mayne is pronounced just like the state of Maine.

After Jerome's presentation, feel free to say something like:
"For those of you who are interested, Jerome has agreed to spend a few minutes signing copies of his book Diary of a White Collar Criminal."
